REPUBLICAN GENEROSITY TO THE EX-SOLDIER

Wives, sisters, mothers and sweethearts, who—through tear-dimmed eyes—saw the boys off to war, are still following their interests with sympathetic concern. A well soldier is a hero, while a sick soldier is this, plus a sacred appeal. We heartily approve of the generous attitude of the Republican party toward the ex-soldier.

It takes courage for a political party to vote taxes, but the Republican party was brave enough to do it generously in the righteous cause of our noble defenders.

Each day of the year the government, by vote of our Republican Congress, is paying out to the ex-soldier more than a million dollars. This year this one item of expense will be the second largest in our national budget.

Not only is it giving him money, but care and service in many lines. In the Wilson administration soldier relief was scattered through three bureaus and red tape and confusion was a cause for delay and suffering. The Republican Congress consolidated all soldier relief in the Veterans' bureau, with such efficiency that each case is given almost immediate attention, although about seven hundred new claims are received each day.

To make relief more accessible, 14 district headquarters were established, with one hundred forty sub-offices. The government now has about thirty-five hospitals with ample beds for sick soldiers. Medical treatment is also given to 20,000 ex-service men outside of hospitals. Last year the government gave medical inspection to 300,000 ex-service men.

Army service cut into the education of many of the boys. The government is making up to them by giving vocational training to 100,000 ex-service men who have applied for it. Five thousand schools throughout the country co-operate with this work. On account of this training many of the boys are able to earn much better incomes than they were making before the war.

A soldiers' insurance is conducted with premiums lower than those of private companies. An employment service is helping the boys find the right job; and preference in civil service is given to the ex-soldier in the Postoffice department.

Besides this work of the national government, Republican states are showing themselves equally generous. Cash bonuses, preference in civil service, educational aid, loans for homes or farms, employment service, loan funds to the needy, welfare commissions, and admission to state hospitals are some of the benefits which Republican states have extended to the soldiers.

It will not take long to enumerate what the Democratic states have done—for they have done almost nothing, except to eulogize the ex-soldier with words. The Republican party has said it with actions, which "speak louder than words."

It was Lincoln's idea to be generous with the ex-soldier and this has always been a Republican principle.

PATRIOTISM PROTECTS OUR HOME INDUSTRIES

"Made in Chicago," is an idea featured of recent years in the "Windy City." With the same motive of encouraging home industries the South has put up a plea to the country, "Buy a bale of cotton and help the Southern planter." We have also eaten corn to help the mid-West. It is a bit of patriotism with which we are all in sympathy.

This same loyalty to the home producer and manufacturer is the motive back of the tariff. If we buy goods made-in-America, we keep American mill wheels going and our money circulating among Americans. If we buy goods made abroad, we throw our own workers into idleness and send our money abroad.

Republican tariff pursues the idea "Made in America." Democratic free trade means "Buy it abroad." Which do you think is the sentiment of a patriotic American?

MRS. HARDING CONGRATULATES MISS ALICE ROBERTSON ON HER PROTECTIVE TARIFF SPEECH

Washington.—A recent issue of the Muskogee, Oklahoma, Daily Phoenix contains an article regarding Miss Alice Robertson, Republican representative in the Congress from the Second Oklahoma district, which refers to the speech Miss Robertson recently made on the floor of the House in favor of the enactment of a protective tariff. The speech was largely devoted to reasons why the women of the country needed a protective tariff and a warning that they should not be deceived by the false claims of importers and large department stores that such a tariff would necessitate an increase in prices. Miss Robertson's speech has been widely circulated and favorably commented upon. Among other favorable comments she received was a letter from Mrs. Harding, which reads as follows:

"My dear Miss Robertson:
Mr. Wakemaknk khkask bkekenkkk
"Mr. Wakemaknk has been good enough to send me a copy of your speech on the tariff, and I cannot refrain from writing you a line to congratulate you, not only upon this speech, but upon being a woman who has come out of the West to point the way to the women of the East in matters of politics and statesmanship. I do not know of anyone who can do it with better understanding than yourself."

"With kindest personal regards and with the best wishes for your continued success as a leader of women in the political field, I am,
"Sincerely yours,
"FLORENCE KLING HARDING."

Detroit Has a Kite Day.

Kite day has become an annual event in Detroit. So popular has it become that competitors in the events of the seventh annual kite day in May were divided into two sections. Those who live east of Woodward avenue floated their kites in Pingree park and those who live west competed in Woodward park. The East side contest was particularly thrilling because it was participated in by Chinese, Korean and Filipino boys. Oriental peoples are the most expert makers and flyers of kites in the world, according to the Survey. This fascinating sport with them originally had an important ritual significance.

Metal Turned Into Gas.

Two professors at Chicago university claim to have succeeded in turning a metal, tungsten, into gas, helium. Between 50,000 and 60,000 degrees of heat were needed for the experiment. This is the highest temperature ever known. The temperature of molten steel is 2,000 degrees. That of the sun is 9,000 degrees, while some of the hottest stars are 30,000 degrees.

One Hundred Thousand Volts of Electricity

One hundred thousand volts of electricity were discharged at a high speed through a fine tungsten wire. The wire exploded with a deafening report and a flash two hundred times brighter than sunlight and decomposed into gas.

He Was Through.

"I miss your neighbor across the way at the piano this evening. He plays with such finish."

"Yes, he's finished; the installment man took his piano this morning."—Judge.

POINTERS

- Audacity is the stepfather of success.
- Men are different. Husbands are alike.
- Even a tall man may not be above criticism.
- It is far easier to love somebody than to respect them.
- Men like to be laughed at for their wit, but not for their folly.

Michigan Happenings

Construction work now under way on buildings at state institutions is not to be stopped by the injunction granted Lansing taxpayers in the Ingham county circuit court. Judge Collingwood, by whom the restraining order was issued, said the order did not contemplate interruption of work now under way, but was issued to restrain the state administrative board and disbursing officers of the state from incurring further obligations in connection with such work pending the hearing on the petition for an injunction.

The entire military aspect of Camp Custer was changed again when the last of the regular army troops left for regular winter posts. Company A, second infantry, with quartermaster and medical detachments will be the only force remaining at camp during the winter, as a guard to all the government property stored there. Brigadier General George V. H. Mosely, commanding general during the training period, left for Fort Sheridan, where he will assume command.

Pinned under his overturned car for four hours, John Robinson, of Rochester, was losing consciousness when rescued by a passing motorist. Robinson, alone, was driving into the city when his car went into a ditch two miles south of Rochester about 1 a. m. The weight of the car held him fast in the soft mud at the bottom of the ditch. A farmer, driving to the city about 5 o'clock, heard moans at the roadside and, investigating, found Robinson.

Mrs. Lora Lavery and her stepdaughter, Beulah Hanks, of Orangeville, strangely disappeared following the suicide of the first woman's husband, John Lavery. Barry county officials were unable to learn where the two women had gone following their release from the hospital at Hastings. Both were injured severely by Lavery, who attacked them with a hammer before he shot himself, but they recovered quickly at the hospital.

Recovered from nearly fatal burns received in a boiler explosion in which a fellow workman was killed, Nurski, 34, waded into the Thornapple river for a swim and drowned in sight of his wife and half a hundred other picnickers. Nurski who recently returned to work after his narrow escape in the explosion, had not taken a swim in years. The body was recovered by clam diggers.

John Griffin, of Dowagiac, is the first man ever arrested in Kalamazoo county, under the statute which forbids driving away from an accident without stopping to offer aid. Griffin's car is said to have struck and severely injured occupants of another machine, a few miles south of the city. Griffin asserts he did not know that he had hit another car.

Kalamazoo is enjoying the lowest priced milk of any city in this section of the United States. As a result of a fight between producers and distributors, milk has been lowered from 11 to 7 cents a quart by the Dairy-men's Milk company, a firm controlled by producers. The 7-cent price is 3 cents lower than pre-war prices.

F. A. Neuman, Detroit man, who pleaded guilty at Pontiac to a charge of assault and battery on two girls in a Lake Orion club, as a sequel of raids at that resort, has taken an appeal to circuit court from his conviction. He drew a 60-day term in jail without a fine. He was released on bail, pending trial.

Upper peninsula lumber men are planning an appeal to the state for aid in fighting a devastating worm that is threatening the life of all the birch growth in this section. According to forestry experts the plague will ruin hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of standing timber this year.

Harry Dale, 17 years old; Dean Livingston, 17 years old, and a 15-year-old boy, are under arrest at Port Huron, charged with several automobile thefts. The boys have been stealing machines for joy rides for several weeks, later abandoning the autos, it is alleged.

After being unconscious in her home in Battle Creek for three days following a stroke of paralysis, Miss Mary N. Hawgood, 58 years old, was discovered by her sister and taken to a local sanitarium.

Burns resulting from a fall into a tub left on the floor by his mother, may bring death to Jack Blohm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund G. Blohm, Saginaw, physicians fear.

Sixty members of the Warner family of Albion attended its seventy-seventh annual reunion at Montcalm Lake. Mrs. Mandana Warner, 95, was the oldest person present.

Ada Powers, 3 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Powers, Dowagiac, slipped from the railing of Cass avenue bridge, fell into Dowagiac river and was drowned. A brother Nelson, 4 years old, and the girl were hanging over the railing when the tot lost her balance.

SURGERY ANCIENT ART

Were Skilled in Treating Diseases 3,000 Years Ago.

Delicate Operations, Hitherto Thought Modern, Revealed by Egyptian Document—Shows Evidence of Advanced Knowledge.

Chicago.—The restoration of youth to the aged, attempted recently by means of animal glands, was also attempted at least 3,000 years ago, according to Dr. James H. Breasted of the University of Chicago. An "Incantation of Transforming an Old Man Into a Youth of Twenty" is set forth in the Edwin Smith papyrus, the Egyptian document which Doctor Breasted has declared contains unparalleled evidence of advanced knowledge and scientific spirit on the part of Egyptian physicians of 1800 B. C. or earlier.

The incantation, on the contrary, he said, is characterized by reliance on hocus-pocus. Doctor Breasted's theory is that an extraordinary book on surgery and external medicine fell into the hands of a quack who was more interested in charms for making old men young, and who had the incongruous texts combined in the same roll. Thus in the papyrus magical formulae jostle an exposition of delicate surgical operations heretofore believed to be decidedly modern.

The handwriting indicates that it was probably written about 1800 B. C., and it was thought to be a copy of a manuscript that is at least a thousand years older. The original may have been written as early as 3400 B. C. It is thought, by some of the words which appear in the manuscript and which were long out of vogue in 1800 B. C.

The manuscript also contains "The Incantation of Expelling the Wind of the Year of Pest." This shows the widely prevalent notion which has persisted to the present day that the winds carry malignant plagues. The last two parts of the papyrus are written in a very different handwriting from the front page.

The columns in front treat of the head, the mouth, the neck and the spine. Here the papyrus stops, but it is evident that the remainder treated the lower body.

The first group of ten cases described treat of wounds of the head, of which seven are knife and sword wounds. The surgeon is instructed how to probe the wound and in case of a severe knife wound told, "You should have made for him a wooden brace padded with linen (and have) the head fastened to it. His treatment should be sitting, placed between two supports of brick, until you know whether he is making any progress."

Case 8 deals with "a fracture of the skull under the skin." The surgeon is told to operate, to open at the point of contusion, and "to elevate the depression outward." It is possible trephining is involved here; if so it is the earliest mention of it in history.

HELICOPTER SUCCESS, CLAIM

Inventor Brennan Aided by Government Perfects Plane Said to Rise Vertically.

London, England.—A successful helicopter, dream of aviation experimenters for years, has been devised by Louis Brennan, with the aid of the British government, according to the Pall Mall Gazette. Mr. Brennan is the inventor of the Brennan torpedo and the gyroscopic monorail.

It is claimed the new helicopter can rise from and land on a small roof, hover stationary in the air, rise to a height of 2,000 feet and fly sixty miles an hour. All these requirements were to have been fixed by the British air ministry, which was preparing to offer for their fulfillment a prize of £50,000.

The newspaper predicts that the helicopter will bring flying into everyday business and social life and adds: "For military purposes its ability to hover stationary over a given spot gives it almost incalculable value. It has, moreover, the quality of virtual invisibility owing to the blurred appearance of the rotating surfaces which keep it suspended in the air."

Boiling Points of Metals.

For a long time the boiling points of metals were not very accurately ascertained. Not so long ago Greenwood undertook a new investigation of the subject and he gives the following results for certain well-known metals:

Aluminum, 1,800 degrees centigrade; copper, 2,310 degrees centigrade; iron, 2,450 degrees centigrade; and tin, 2,270 degrees centigrade.
